Project Name	Alta Guajira Aerodrome
Project Description	The project involves the construction of the air side of the Alta Guajira Aerodrome, located in Uribia, Bahía Honda, El Paraíso community. It is about 160 km from Riohacha, 121 km from Maicao, 105 km from Manaure and 92 km from another important point. Its objective is to improve the connectivity of the territory, facilitating access to public services, promoting productive transformation and guaranteeing fundamental rights, such as health and food, for the vulnerable communities of La Guajira. The airfield, known as the "Star of Life," will enable the efficient distribution of food and medicines in remote areas with no road or river access. It will also enable the rapid transport of medical personnel, equipment and resources to provide priority care, reducing response times.

Sustainability and ESG considerations	Given the location of the project and its social and environmental setting, Aeronáutica Civil plays a crucial role in assessing its impact in terms of sustainability and ESG criteria. Its involvement is essential to ensure that the project complies with relevant environmental and social regulations, as well as to ensure the integrity of the natural environment and the protection of local communities.
Risk Assesment and Mitigation	Given that the project is in the pre-investment phase, the main risks identified are the supply of drinking water, energy and materials for both construction and subsequent operation. To mitigate these risks, a panel of experts has been scheduled to find alternative solutions to these problems.
